Russians Reach Border of East Prussia near Kaunas

Belgrade Circled,

Port of Memel
Now Isolated

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Thursday, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Red army roared up the East Prussian border west of Kaunas yesterday, isolated the great Baltic port of Memel, and on the southern front with the aid of Romanian troops captured Szeged, second-largest city in Hungary, and Cluj, capital of Transylvania.

In a day of glittering successes for Soviet arms, Marshal Tito announced that the Russians and his Yugoslav Partisan troops also had surrounded Yugoslavia's capital city of Belgrade, but this was not confirmed by the Russian communiqué, which inexplicably was not broadcast until well after midnight. A Russian column reached the northeastern approaches to Belgrade a week ago but apparently it was decided not to risk wrecking the city by frontal assault.

Memel Encircled

A German radio acknowledged that Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's First Baltic army had entirely encircled Memel, port and chief city of Memelland. The Russians, already within nine miles of the city and cutting a steel arc around it, did not confirm that they actually had reached the sea on both sides, but said they edged closer on the southeast and extended northward towards Liepaja the corridor to which they had hammered home on Tuesday, isolating 100,000 to 150,000 Germans remaining in northwest Lithuania and southwest Latvia. If not completely cut off, the Germans said, Memel was isolated and

Silent About Riga

The Russians were silent concerning Riga, where their siege has reached to the outskirts of that Latvian capital and seaport, except to say that again their bombers had caused havoc among German transports in the harbor.

The westward drive across Lithuania to the East Prussian border swept up more than fifty populated places, the Soviet communiqué said.

The Germans, going ever farther than the Russian announcements, said the battle for East Prussia had begun with Soviet assaults from three sides—from the north against Memelland and the frontier city of Tilsit, from the east as confirmed by Moscow and from the south in Poland around Rozan. The Russians were silent concerning Poland, and said of Tilsit only that they had heavily bombed German troops there Tuesday night.

HERE IS AN UNUSUAL CLOSEUP of Hitler taken as he made a particularly impassioned appeal to the German people recently. It is considered one of the most revealing studies to be taken in recent years and is from the March of Time release, "What To Do with Germany."

Bulgaria Agrees
To Allied Terms
For an Armistice

LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Bulgaria tonight accepted preliminary armistice conditions from the Allies, agreeing to evacuate within two weeks territories seized from Greece and Yugoslavia, in what was apparently a speedy result of Moscow conferences between Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

Bulgaria's acceptance of pre-requisite demands made by Russia, Great Britain and the United States was announced in a Moscow radio broadcast recorded here by the Soviet monitor.

Ordered to Quit Greece

Simultaneously, a Cairo broadcast heard here by the Associated Press said that Bulgarian troops in Greece had already received their orders to withdraw.

A tripartite military commission under the chairmanship of a Russian representative will check and supervise the evacuation of Bulgarian troops and officials from the occupied territories, the Moscow announcement said.

Evacuation of the Greek and Yugoslav territories—which Bulgaria obtained in her former partnership with Nazi Germany—must start immediately.

Final Terms Later

The Russian announcement indicated that final armistice conditions for Bulgaria will not be settled until she fulfills the preliminary terms of withdrawal.

Allied governments, through the European Advisory commission, have been considering these armistice conditions since Sept. 9 when the Russians ended hostilities against the Bulgarian army after a one-day war.

There were a number of points on which the Soviet and Anglo-American conferences were reported to have disagreed and the entire Bulgarian situation—as well as other Balkan problems—was high on the agenda. Churchill and Foreign Minister Anthony Eden took to Moscow for discussion with Stalin and Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov.

Nazi War Criminals
Barred from Portugal

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—Portugal has denied Nazi war criminals the right of asylum within her borders. BBC said tonight in a broadcast reported by NBC. The broadcast said the Portuguese decision was reported by a government spokesman during a debate in the British Parliament and that Elie was expected to announce its decision regarding Nazi refugees within three weeks.

Likely To Vote

By ED CREAGH

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—Well over 4,300,000 men and women in the armed forces have applied for absentee ballots and the best estimates of state election officials indicate that more than 2,300,000 of the ballots will be cast in the November 7 election.

In the eighteen states which have kept a record of them, more than 600,000 G.I. ballots already have been marked and returned. The percentage of servicemen and women who have cast the ballots they requested—or received without asking—ranges from five per cent in Wisconsin to around fifty per cent in Ohio.

Conspiracy Case Witness Charges
Hitler Planned Downfall of U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Dr. Herman Rauschning, author and one-time Nazi official, testified today that Adolf Hitler told him in 1933 that he would be able to "paralyze the unity of the United States" and cause a revolution if America ever threatened to join England in war against Germany.

Dr. Rauschning, former president of the Free City of Danzig under Hitler, was a government witness at the trial of twenty-four defendants charged with conspiring to undermine the morale and loyalty of the armed forces. Chief Prosecutor O. John Roche brought in Rauschning's testimony as the first direct attempt to prove the indictment charge that Hitler was the arch conspirator in the case.

Proposed Wage
Boosts Passed
To FDR by WLB

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
Associated Press Labor Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—The War Labor Board voted eight to four today to pass the dispute over the Little Steel formula on to President Roosevelt without advice, thereby provoking from the minority of labor members a protest which reached new heights of bitterness.

The minority statement labeled the proposal of the public and the industry members of the board a "timid contradiction" and a "double talk."

The action of the board, said the AFL-CIO group, "is an inexcusable dereliction of duty."

The board's action does not mean that the case goes immediately to the White House. There is a distinct possibility that the board's factual report may not actually reach Mr. Roosevelt's desk until after the elections, because the report has not been fully prepared and passed upon by the board, and second, because the report will go first to Stabilization Director Fred J. Vinson.

The formula limits wage increases to fifteen percent above the level of January, 1941. Asking that it be revised, organized labor contends living costs have gone up out of all proportion to the rise in wages.

The board's report also will discuss phases of wage stabilization outside the Little Steel formula, such as substandard wages and reconversion problems.

The board will act upon pending wage cases under the present wage stabilization policy. This means a rejection of the increase of seventeen cents an hour demanded by the CIO steel workers and other unions which have already received all the increase allowed by the Little Steel formula. However, such rejection will include "appropriate provisions for reopening in case any change in the policy should be made."

Two More Towns
Fall Victims to Nazi Atrocities

By The Associated Press

French radio stations reported yesterday that two more towns had fallen victims of Nazi atrocities, the Paris radio charging that German S S (elite guard) troops had massacred all but ten of the 520 inhabitants of Combanchien and the Brazzaville station alleging that 120 Frenchmen had been hanged in Tulle in Southern France. Both broadcasts were reported by Federal Communications commission monitors.

New Landing on

Extend Control Of Major Bases

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

Making their second new landing in the Palau in three days, American forces increased to eleven their island holdings in that group by sweeping unopposed onto tiny Bairakaseru islet Tuesday, the navy announced at Pearl Harbor last night (Wednesday).

The new landing, extending control over the southern half of bases within 515 miles of the Philippines, followed a Sunday invasion of Garaway which was secured in twenty-four hours.

Use New Air Base

The eleven Palau islands in Yank hands, the most important is Peleliu which has an air base from which planes are blasting Nipponese holdings to the north in the same chain. Last night's communiqué said of a new strike by marine Corps.

Some Japanese still are holding out on Peleliu where, latest reports said, the marines had exploded an ammunition dump. Bairakaseru is a little over nine miles northwest of Peleliu.

American airmen, determined to wreck one of Japan's chief sources of aviation gasoline and lubricating oil, were reported by Gen. Douglas MacArthur today to have lashed Balikpapan on Dutch Borneo for four solid hours.

Yank heavy bombers unloaded their explosives on refineries and airfields in a strike at Balikpapan last Sunday night. It was the fifth raid there since October 1 from advanced Allied air bases in the Southwest Pacific.

By E. E. EASTERLY

TACOMA, WASH., Oct. 11 (AP)—John W. Bricker asserted tonight that the "New Deal dragged this country to the bottom of the list of nations" in industrial recovery and could not be trusted to provide productive peace-time jobs.

The Republican vice presidential nominee, in a speech prepared for a nationwide broadcast and released in advance by his campaign staff, said Great Britain within three years after the low-point of 1932 restored national income and employment to her 1929 figure.

No Recovery Until War

The United States, on the other hand, "never recovered her 1929 income or employment until war came," he added.

Earlier in his two-day tour of Washington the Ohio Governor Bricker told an audience in the shipyards community of Bremerton that America should maintain "a strong system of outlying military bases" after the war for the sake of world stability.

Appearing in the same vicinity where President Roosevelt said on Aug. 12 that "we were not allowed to fortify Guam," Bricker declared that "neither the navy, the administration nor the president had asked Congress to fortify Guam."

Scrap, Oil for Japan

He said Mr. Roosevelt was "afraid of offending Japan," and added: "It was the same reason for which he kept providing Japan with oil and scrap iron. x x x Guam was

Making Progress
At Conferences

MOSCOW, Oct. 11 (AP)—Discussions of the problems of peace and plans for bringing the war in Europe to a speedy close went forward in Moscow today in an atmosphere of warm Allied friendship and co-operation sparked by Premier Marshal Stalin.

Terrified civilians and some Nazi troops tried to flee to the safety of American lines. Some got through. Others were shot in the back by the sprinkling of Himmler's SS troopers left behind to maintain morale.

This was the death trap the Germans earlier in the day tried to pry loose with a rescue division, sent in from the east with orders to squeeze through the narrow, bullet-raked corridor between Wurzen and Haaren.

There was no attempt to conceal the desperate ill-fated maneuver. The exposed columns, in broad daylight, instantly came under fire from dive-bombing machine-gunning Lightnings and Thunderbolts. American gun crews turned their fire into the Germans.

A major battle developed northeast of the blazing city as Yank infantry and armor smashed into the suicidal relief column and artillery and mortars ploughed through its ranks at almost pointblank range.

Leaders Attend Luncheon

United States Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Maj. Gen. J. Russell Deane, chief of the United States Military Mission, were hosts at luncheon for the British military staffs, including Field Marshal Sir Alan Francis Brooke, chief of the Imperial general staff; Gen. Sir Hastings L. Ismay, chief of staff to Prime Minister Churchill, and Lt. Gen. Brocas Burrows, chief of the British military mission in Moscow.

Foreign ministers Anthony Eden and Vyacheslav Molotov met after luncheon today following a meeting from 6:30 to 8:30 o'clock last night, and a British spokesman said the separate staffs were working "very hard" at the moment.

Discussion Reaches Peak

The problems imposed by a tremendous wartime influx of young women have been discussed by civic leaders for months but the discussion has reached a new peak in press, pulpit and among government workers themselves since the return of Dorothy Berrian.

Dorothy's three-month government career ended in death. Just 18, she came here to work for the War department when she graduated from High school at Chippewa Falls, Wis., last June. Last week, raped and strangled, her body was found in a Potomac River Park. A young marine has been accused of the killing.

While the government hires the girl workers, it does not undertake a close supervision of their off-duty hours. Most of the agencies and departments have personnel advisers to whom a girl can take her problems if she likes. But that is strictly up to her.

THE DARING venture of an American carrier task force that sent waves of planes against Japanese islands within 200 miles of the Nippon homeland caused radio Tokyo yesterday to broadcast warnings to the people of the empire that the attacking Yank ships are "still lurking" nearby.

There was no American confirmation of Japanese-expressed fears, in a domestic broadcast recorded by FCC, that American carriers are lingering in the waters immediately south of the Rising Sun homeland. The people were told "we must not be caught off guard."

The Japanese said 400 American carrier planes, flying in four waves, hit the Ryukyu Islands Monday. While radio Tokyo claimed damage was "slight," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz earlier reported the American naval fliers sunk or damaged fifty-eight ships, ranging from destroyers to small craft, shot down fourteen intercepting planes and destroyed seventy-five on the ground.

Islanders Want Action

TOKYO said the American objective in hitting the Ryukyus, between Southern Japan-proper and Formosa, was to threaten communication lines between the Japanese mainland and southern regions. It added Nippon forces in the Ryukyu region were "filled with a burning fighting spirit to inflict an iron blow on the enemy's head."

Admiral Nimitz also reported complete capture of Garakawa island, in the Palau, within two days after Yank soldiers landed there. American forces now hold ten islands and islets in the Southern Palau, only 515 miles off the Philippines.

The developing American campaign on the southern and eastern flanks of the Philippines brought further invasion indications as Sergio Osmeña, president of the Archipelago, left Washington. Presumably he was headed for the Southwest Pacific to join Gen. Douglas MacArthur when his forces move into those islands.

Tydings also told the Eastern senator he had tried to bring the beaten track and that he has attempted to bring it back to its old ways.

The senator has been accompanied on his barnstorming tour of the eastern shore by former State Senator Dudley G. Roe, who is opposed to State Senator Wilmer Fell Davis for the First Congressional district seat in the House of Representatives. Roe spoke briefly at the Eastern meeting, promising support and co-operation with Tydings.

John C. North, chairman of the Central Democratic committee of Talbot county, presided at the meeting which was the second on the candidate's itinerary calling for speeches at five shore towns.

Tydings also told the Eastern group that the whole election issue was not a question of taxes, wages or bureaucracy, but of war and peace. He expressed confidence that the Allies would win the war, but stressed the importance that the peace also be won and kept.

He will speak in Cambridge tomorrow and in Elkhorn Friday.

200 Attend YMCA Campers' Reunion On Founder's Day

Yvonne Rogers and Louis Evertine Named Outstanding Campers

Miss Yvonne Rogers and Louis Evertine were chosen as the outstanding girl and boy campers of the Central YMCA camping season at an informal get-together and dinner meeting of the staff and counselors last evening on the occasion of the observance of YMCA founder's day.

The names of the outstanding campers of the 1944 season at the Pleasant Valley Recreation Area in Garrett county will be inscribed on a statuette which will become part of the camp tradition in years to come. The statuette will be displayed in the YMCA building and at the camp during the summer season.

Thirty attended the dinner meeting which was followed by a campers' reunion in the gymnasium of the "Y" building.

Sing Camp Songs

A flag-raising ceremony opened the program and the bugle call was given by James Powers. The group joined enthusiastically in singing camp songs and remarks on various aspects of the camp were made by staff members and counselors. Richard Reiter, counselor, told of the training counselors received prior to the opening of camp. Miss Mildred Cookery, of the camp staff, explained the health and safety program. Alfred H. Benja, associate camp director, explained the enlarged program of the camp and told how careful records were kept of the progress of each boy and girl in camp so when awards were made the honor camper was chosen on the basis of carefully recorded achievement.

Everett R. Johnson, general secretary of the YMCA and camp director, announced honor campers during the season as follows:

First two weeks of boys' camp, Louis Evertine.

Second two weeks of boys' camp, Jack Light.

Police Boys' Club camp, Leonard House.

Girls' camp, Miss Yvonne Rogers, Henry W. Price, chairman of the Central YMCA camp committee, thanked those present for the hearty response to the new camp and predicted that next season would see the camp filled to capacity.

The program was concluded with the showing of colored moving pictures taken during the camp season by Dr. J. Russell Cook, who presented the film to the camp. "Taps" was sounded by James Powers.

200 Attend Reunion

Two hundred attended the reunion, including Lloyd Rawlings, president of the YMCA, camp staff members, counselors, boy and girl campers and their parents.

work for the government can take living quarters anywhere she pleases. If she prefers to live in a government-constructed dormitory, she will find advisers and a rule requiring that she "sign in" if she is out later than 2 a. m. But she can come and go as she pleases.

Whether the government should exercise closer supervision is a disputed matter.

In a discussion at her press conference today, Mrs. Roosevelt made the observation that "no amount of rules and regulations ever really did the job."

"No one ever can really police any one else except the individual himself who uses self-discipline," she said.

Police Rule Parks

The Washington police set-up policing of the parks is the duty of the national parks police service, while his under the Interior department, rather than the duty of the Metropolitan police force.

Dorothy Berrum was the third woman to be killed in a Washington park in three months. Neither of the others was a government girl.

Major Edward Kelly, superintendent of Metropolitan police, would like to see a larger force here but he says the city's wartime record is "magnificent." The number of crimes has decreased in each of the last three years, he said, despite the steady population increase.

Sgt. Francis W. Chapman, 24, of the marines, who participated in the invasion of Normandy and Southern France and in the battle fleet action against the fortress of Cherbourg, is expected to return home on leave soon, according to a marine corps release. He is a member of the marine detachment of the United States Cruiser Tuscaloosa.

Sgt. Chapman is a brother of Mrs. Edward F. Miller, 439 Independence street. He graduated from St. Patrick's Parochial school and LaSalle Institute and attended Notre Dame university for two years. Before enlisting in the marine corps in July, 1942, he was employed at the Celanese plant.

Three Changes Made In Draft Classifications

Three changes in draft classifications contained in a directive from Selective Service headquarters have been received by the four local draft boards, and board officials are revising their files accordingly.

All draft registrants between the ages of 38 and 45 will now be classified in 4-A, which was previously reserved for men 45 years of age and over. This change does away with the old "H" classification for men in the 38 to 45 age group.

Draft registrants who were previously classified with an "L" after their classification group to denote that they were fit only for limited service will be put either into the 4-F group or into a deferred classification.

All draft registrants who have received honorable discharges from the armed forces and who were classified in 1-C, the regular classification for men in the service, will now be classified as 1-C, DISC, to denote that they have been discharged.

Patton's Troops Attack

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army troops continued their long effort to root fanatic Nazi defenders out of the bowels of Fort Driant across the Moselle river from the French city of Metz. The opposing forces were close together in the winding underground passages they could plainly hear each other's orders.

The fighting centered in a curving tunnel which runs from the Yank-held south end of the fort underneath one of three main big gun batteries to the southeast corner. The opposing troops were trying to nail each other with carbon shots off the tunnel walls, the Americans having found it unfeasible to use blasting charges against the defenders.

Other Nazi forts supporting Driant still laid down a steady fire on Americans attacking the stronghold, blanketing nearby roads with such a deadly rain of steel that it was necessary to evacuate Yank wounded in tanks.

An Encouraging Step Toward Peace Security

THE TENTATIVE DRAFT OF a world security organization written at the Dumbarton Oaks conference is being rightfully hailed as a heartening step toward the great objective sought by everybody. But, it embodies only the main framework of the structure, which is important, and leaves the most delicate and puzzling questions yet to be answered. There is much ground for the hope, however, that these can and will be answered satisfactorily.

The major of these questions pertains to voting power. The plan outlined provides that the chief world powers are to combine for keeping the peace of the world with the use of armed forces if necessary; but, extending all the powers, both great and small, are to share in the task. Here it can be seen that the success or failure of the proposed pact depends on the attitude of the larger powers.

But there is uncertainty as to whether these world policemen are willing to live up to the laws they undertake to enforce. That question apparently is raised by only one of the powers, namely, Russia. It contends that each of the major powers should retain the right to veto any decision involving charges of aggression against it. It is a realistic consideration and arouses naturally the question as to how far even the United States or Great Britain, with ample resources to resist, would submit to an adverse decision in a dispute they feared might jeopardize their national life or safety. But perhaps the conference between Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Marshal Stalin now under way at Moscow will clarify the Russian attitude on this point and clear the way for a solution.

The voting power in the security council was left undecided at Dumbarton Oaks and it will have to be thrashed out. But it is clear that the veto power would give virtual control of the organization to a single big power; and here it is seen that unity of spirit for which there must be some realistic provision is an essential part of the whole machinery. The whole issue here boils down to whether the league shall be controlled by its assembly of all or by the big power-dominated council.

Other questions pertain to the guarantee of a Bill of Rights for all the participating nations and the ability of the United States and other representative governments to engage in warlike moves without specific authority from their parliaments. The latter ought to be ironed out easily under the provision that the formula is to be ratified by the signatories "in accordance with their constitutional processes." The question of separate military alliances, which is evaded by the draft, must also be answered.

Thus, much is yet to be accomplished; but it can be said that excellent groundwork has been laid and that the prospects for ultimately erecting an effective world peace structure are excellent, particularly in view of the earnest effort made to avoid the mistakes and failures which destroyed the old League of Nations. Many serious questions must be analyzed and answered, and it is to be hoped that full public discussion looking to general understanding and acceptance will not be clouded by the secrecy that has unfortunately shrouded the preliminary carpet-work.

Picture and Story Cause Comment

CIRCULATION of a picture and story recently published on the first page of the Charleston, W. Va., Gazette, ardent Roosevelt supporter, is the source of much interest over in that state.

The picture, quite a repulsive one, was of Earl Browder, ex-convict Communist party leader, and the story related that Browder had said that Dewey "carries the flag of anti-Communism."

The thing has made the West Virginia New Dealers pretty sore, and the Republicans and anti-New Dealers are saying that if the Communists attack Dewey for being anti-Communist—and he is to the nth degree—doesn't that make FDR the Communist candidate, at least in the eyes of the Communists?

There is speculation as to whether the Charleston newspaper published the picture and story by mistake or with deliberation.

Getting Away
From the Children

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

ONE may well wonder whether anyone can seriously entertain the notion that the misstatements made by Secretary Ikes in his campaign speeches can be of any help to the fourth-termers. His abuse and vituperation, of course, are expected and are usually discounted in consideration of his role as America's No. 1 scold. But when it comes to using that in place of facts, his service as a campaigner may be questioned.

For example, Ikes has charged that Governor Dewey plans to introduce in Washington a "Trojan horse" full of a prize group of isolationists and rabble rousers." Herein Ikes not only ignores the record of Governor Dewey's remarkable effort, through John Foster Dulles, to collaborate with Secretary Hull and the administration in the creation of a suitable world peace structure, but picks for his "Trojan horse," among others gentlemen whose views and support have been specifically repudiated by Governor Dewey, including such persons as Representative Hamilton Fish and Gerald L. K. Smith.

These are the demagogic tactics of an Earl Browder and their use indicates that the fourth-termers are pretty hard put to it for decent campaign arguments.

A Rare and Lofty Spirit

ON THE ANNIVERSARY of the landing by Christopher Columbus on San Salvador, one of the Bahamas, it is customary to pay honor to his eminence as a maker of charts and maps, his skill as a navigator, his persistence in selling his dream of a New World to the rulers of Portugal, Genoa and Spain, and his mastery of the mutinous crews that would have turned back when his quest seemed all but successful.

As the years go on, less is said of his being the discoverer of the New World. Others from Europe, and probably some from Asia, preceded him. But more is being said about his enterprise under the most discouraging rebuffs. Faith in his calculations, and probably in the rumors that he heard while voyaging among the Atlantic island outposts of Europe, kept his spirit burning.

But he had other reasons for wishing to succeed. Under his contract with the Spanish crown, he was to be viceroy, or boss, of all the countries that he discovered. Furthermore, he was working on a commission basis. He was to get ten per cent of the value of all the produce of these countries.

Columbus had an eye for business. He was a good advertiser. Returning from his first voyage, he scattered his story through the seaports of Europe. Soon he set out again with six times as many ships and ten times as many men. The exploring and colonizing business was good, but the boys in the home office got in some dirty work and once he was placed in chains on his way home. He died in poverty.

Time has shown that the real poverty of his era was in the vision of those who called themselves rich in power and money. The spirit in which Columbus was rich was so rare and lofty that the world has been a long time growing up to it.

Important FactorIn World Peace

WHAT might be called the bull's-eye of all the shooting in Europe these days, as for many months past when bombing missions were planned—is the great coal, steel and iron district of the Ruhr. In its heyday the Ruhr contained more skilled labor, more heavy industry and a greater concentration of rail and water traffic than any other industrial region in the world.

Control of the Ruhr in the future may well be one of the determining factors of peace in Europe, because it is supreme in coal, was the world's second largest producer of iron and steel on which southern Europe depended and is or was the backbone of weapons of war, including aircraft.

The Ruhr emerged from the last war practically unscathed. American loans helped to make it more efficient than ever. Although many German industries were developed in more easily defended parts of the country, the Ruhr remained the heart of the whole industrial system.

In the period of reconstruction after the war the Ruhr will occupy a position of the utmost importance—likewise in what, it is hoped, are the long years of peace ahead. Control and management of the district, therefore, pose one of the critical decisions for the United Nations.

The Allies appear agreed that Germany must not be permitted to use the Ruhr to rise to military power again and that the industrial moguls who have controlled it for so long ends must be entirely ousted.

One suggestion is to make a Ruhr-Rhenish state under Belgian, Dutch and French leadership with Rotterdam as the administrative center and chief outlet. Another proposal calls for dismemberment and removal of such industries as can be transported to Allied countries. A third plan is for the Allies, according to their war losses, to take majority ownership of all the principal corporations in Germany—the Ruhr being linked to most of them—and operate them through governmental or private control methods or a two-thirds of the Senate on the following grounds:

The formula is based on the League of Nations theory of running the world. Some technical changes do not alter the basic theme that a world council will investigate aggressors and impose sanctions (economic and social as well as military) to deter the pugnacious.

Has Same Ring

The language has the same ring as the league covenant which directed its council to "take action needed and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations," and in Article X was:

"The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league. . . . The assembly may from time to time advise. . . . The considerations of international conditions whose continuance might endanger the peace of the world."

This proposal is the league plus the Kellogg-Briand pact renouncing war, the world court of justice and the disarmament conference—with really only one critical difference.

Small Nations Influential

The all-important details of the voting have not been agreed upon (whether unanimity is necessary for action) but as the agreement now stands, the complexion of the council will depend on the hue of the smaller nations chosen for the one, two and three year terms.

This council cannot itself wage war, but can call upon the United Nations to wage practically anything from social isolation of a nation to invasion. (Cost of these wars or actions are apparently to be borne by the nations furnishing the armies or taking the steps.)

The council is to be always ready for action, although no provisions for housing it are mentioned. I would think it would be established in Washington for this reason:

The league was largely a European device. This is to be a world device. To choose some small neutral place such as Switzerland, or to use the old league buildings there, would subject it to the old unsatisfactory surroundings in which it was unsuccessful. Washington is the natural background for its new tone and intent.

Peace Formula Is Viewed As Better Than Old League

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—Only those who saw the work of the Paris peace conference day by day can testify to the remarkable achievement of Secretary Hull and his group of colleagues who drafted the proposals for the new league for world security.

To have been able in the midst of war to put on paper and get agreement so quickly among the delegates of Britain, the United States, Russia and China on a matter so delicate as a world organization is a tribute to the steadfastness of purpose and fidelity of the members of the director, Bishop Edwin F. Lee.

It is true there is much yet to be done to get agreement on more than perhaps any other. Not only in Russia but in the United States there will be hesitancy to accept such a decision in the making of which America will have had no voice.

The most important fact to be remembered is that no international agreement can be ratified unless the viewpoints of all nations are harmonized and it may be that in the end the success of the efforts to prevent a third world war will depend more on the character of the statesmen in office than on the phrases of the contract. A good contract can always be violated by evildoing parties with a tendency to quibble or evade obligations and a loosely worded or inadequate contract can be made to work when there is a will to do so backed by conscience.

Why Thousands of Doctors

Pertussin FOR Bad Coughs
(DUE TO COLDS)

Pertussin must be good when thousands upon thousands of Doctors have prescribed it for so many years.

Pertussin acts at once to relieve your coughing. It loosens and makes phlegm easier to raise. Safe and effective for both old and young. Inexpensive!

It is true there is much yet to be

Peace Formula Is Seen in Congress For Peace Formula As So Far Written

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—Sparse

and softly agreeable comment in Congress on the postwar formula of Dumbarton Oaks does not mean the project is being taken lightly.

It is being subjected to severe study here as elsewhere. Yet there is every present prospect that the unfinished proposal will be approved not only by a majority but a safe two-thirds of the Senate on the following grounds:

The formula is based on the League of Nations theory of running the world. Some technical changes do not alter the basic theme that a world council will investigate aggressors and impose sanctions (economic and social as well as military) to deter the pugnacious.

Settled—points that are difficult and tremendously important—but the progress made thus far augurs well for the future. Most vital is the scope of the proposed organization as tentatively agreed upon. It is built, of course, on the foundations of the League of Nations. It does not differ in many essentials, and this is fortunate because the existing league covenant did surround many hurdles in internation co-operation.

This leadership is to replace

Anglo-French leadership of the old league in which Russia was a trivial influence. The cast changes but the ideal of the play is not altered materially and the script only pointed up.

This theory of peace has become popular because of a prevailing notion that the reason the league failed was because the United States did not join its influence.

Some Marked Improvements

There are some improvements noticeable, to be sure, over the old league and yet this is not the real reason for calling the new document an epochal achievement. The reason is that the main structure of the old league has been revived and there has been presented for future discussion and agreement by all nations a practical plan for enforcing the peace.

German Efforts To Save Aachen Come Too Late

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

BELATED Nazi efforts in force to relieve the Aachen garrison, doomed by refusal of its commander to surrender to American First Army troops encircling the city, may delay but cannot long avert its fall. Once it falls, a wide and deep gap will be opened in German West wall defenses.

By every available indicator, the forelorn Nazi relief attack can only increase the toll of German casualties. Reckless of that cost, Nazi commanders herded their men into a certain inferno of big and little American gunfire in defiance of every military precept. They moved forward, too, unprotected above from the swooping Allied planes that rule the skies.

Relief Attack Launched

Reduction of Aachen by bombardment was in cold, precise and remorseless progress when the Nazi relief attack developed. American gunners had to shift their sights to bring living targets instead of the Aachen rubble heap under direct fire.

That was the diagram of the action drawn by eye witness front line reports. It makes the German relief attempt an example of supreme military stupidity, or of utter Nazi fanaticism traceable probably to Hitler himself. No sane professional soldier of the Reich could have inspired that suicide attempt or called upon the Aachen garrison to die uselessly at its post.

Nazis Forced To Fight

There is ample evidence in press accounts of the battle that much of the Aachen garrison enlisted personnel clung to its shell and bomb-blasted shelters only at pistol point. Those who did escape told of comrades shot down by their own officers. The same Hobson's choice of death in front or rear was said to have driven forward the relief column.

Today, the sergeant looks like a campus queen and the office is as plushy as a movie foyer. The Women's Army Corps has moved recruiting out of the back half and into the front parlor.

Last Chapter Soon

The last chapter of the Nazi tragedy at Aachen is still to be written. Once it is, there is reason

Kansas, more famous for dry land farming than for decor, pioneered in the changeover, and a WAC salon, established in one of the largest downtown department stores in Kansas City, Kas., has set a pattern for similar lounges at the state's capital, Topeka, and at Wichita.

The WAC salon idea has spread to other states, too. St. Louis boasts of a salon with a grand piano, and one of New York city's most famous stores recently supplied the furniture for a two-floor version in coral, blue and gold, called "WAC's Fifth Avenue." These strictly feminine recruiting offices are the gifts of civilian enterprises—department stores, manufacturers and civic groups.

One of the most appealing features of the WAC salons is that the WACs get to turn the tables on civilian women and hand out the hospitality themselves. They offer Miss and Mrs. Shopper a cold drink perhaps a cigarette, and twenty minutes of lively army movies.

A person who is operating on only a 70 to 75% healthy blood volume of only 5 to 60 milliliters per kilogram of body weight sometimes needs extra help to restore its balance and function properly. Undigested food places a tax on the system. Insufficient blood strength is a common complaint here. If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic condition, take S.S.S. Tonic. S.S.S. Tonic may be just what you need! S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach; (2) to build up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you eat . . . to make the most of Nature's intended gift. Thus you may get new vitality, pep! You become animated . . . more attractive!

Build Strong Health and Help America Win

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that you gain many more by taking S.S.S. Tonic than you lose by giving it up. S.S.S. Tonic builds strong health—makes you feel like yourself again.

When the Kansas City salon opened, the WACs worried about an expanse of bare wall which wouldn't take to decoration. Lt. Eblen solved the problem by hanging wooden window shades sideways, and presto!—bamboo paneling.

The salons prove that, after all, it is the Women's Army Corps!

Some scholars believe less than twenty per cent of American negroes are of pure African descent.

for expecting the Allied attack to shift northward.

Even Nazi commentators measure the American First Army thrust in the Aachen bulge as a preliminary for renewal of the British Second Army drive against the Arnhem-Essen gateway on the lower Rhine. Berlin accounts say Field Marshal Montgomery has now marshaled his full available strength in the Nijmegen-Arnhem pocket in Holland.

Assuming that Nazi troops thrown into the relief attempt toward Aachen were pulled out of the Arnhem gateway reserve positions for the purpose, the diversion effect of the American attack would be apparent. That might be just what the Allied command was hoping for.

The first British raid on Dieppe, France, occurred in 1939.

Contempt Hearings Ordered for Two Men

Defendants in two divorce suits have been ordered by Associate Judge William A. Huster to show cause in circuit court at 10 a. m. October 21 why they should not be adjudged in contempt of court on charges they failed to comply with court orders.

Clarence Shutter, attorney for the complainant in both cases, who filed the petitions, said Lloyd E. Hansford failed and refused to comply with an order of court under which he was to pay Mrs. Margaret E. Hansford $6 weekly during the litigation and also failed to pay him $40 counsel fee as ordered by the court.

The attorney also charged that Grover C. Sensabaugh has failed to pay him $40 counsel fee as ordered by the court. Sensabaugh is being sued by Mary V. Sensabaugh. Edward J. Ryan is Sensabaugh's attorney.

A. H. Cooper district manager and V. A. Rogerson, branch manager of the War Production Board, Charleston and Clarksburg, W. Va., respectively, said Tuesday that their offices want to hear of any violations in building regulations in order that investigations be conducted as soon as possible.

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer has called the attention of the offices to the fact that Cumberland residents feel that they are being discriminated against in the granting of WPB building permits.

Cooper and Rogerson explained that permits for construction are granted when the work is considered essential. WPB Order 41 allows $200 worth of construction without WPB permit.

Rizer cited the case of a local man who was refused a permit by the city to build a $750 house. The man contacted the WPB over Rizer's head and obtained the necessary certificate for the permit, according to Rizer. Rizer said that he wrote the WPB concerning the matter and had been informed in November, 1943 that the case had been turned over to the compliance section for investigation. Rizer said that he had not yet heard from that section.

Cooper pointed out that the WPB is handicapped because of the time and men necessary for investigation. He said that the compliance force is being increased and that considerable attention is being directed toward Allegany county.

Cooper further said, that, in many cases, contractors, owners and supply dealers are at fault.

VAN METER WILL IS BROUGHT BEFORE COURT OF APPEALS

The Court of Appeals of Maryland was asked to decide Tuesday whether or not paper offered as the will of Mrs. Annie M. Van Meter, of Cresaptown, was duly witnessed by the subscribing witnesses in her presence.

Drawn July 8, 1936, the paper was presented for probate last April 4 in the orphans' court here but the court refused to admit it. Milton G. Van Meter, executor and beneficiary of his mother's will, appealed to the court of appeals on April 18.

James French Van Meter, one of the judges of the orphans' court here—and Mabel Robinette, also children of Mrs. Van Meter, opposed probation of the will and asked the appellate court to uphold the decision of the lower court.

Subscribing witnesses to the will are Carl C. Hetzel and Bancroft Hetzel but the former died before the document was presented for probate in the local court. A third witness, Russell Saville, is now a resident of Chicago.

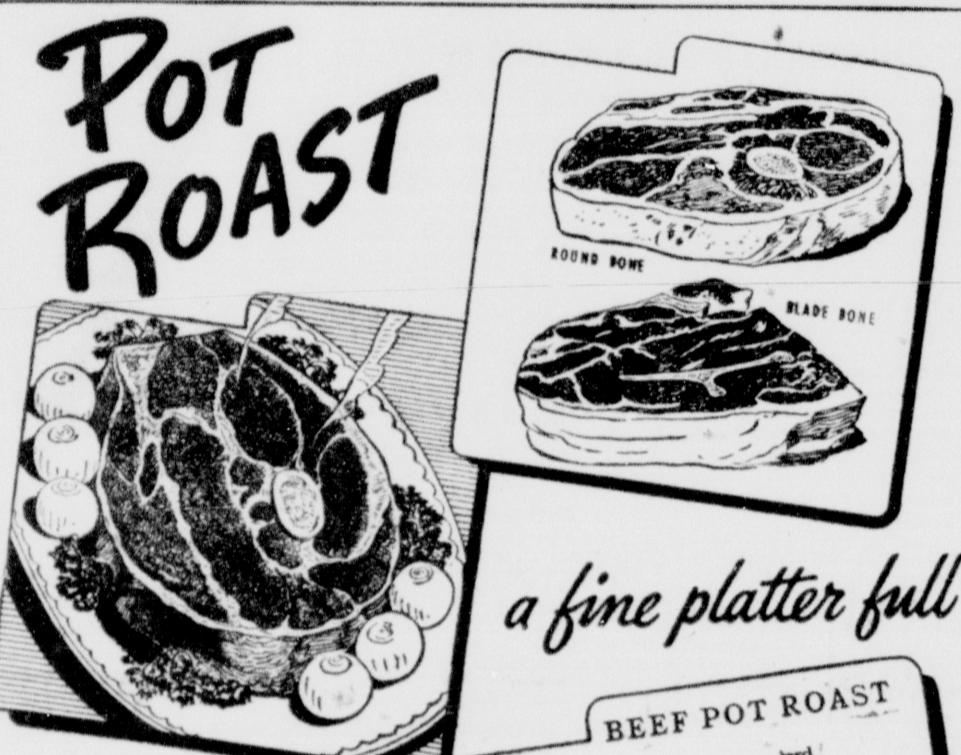

William C. Walsh and William S. Jenkins represent Milton Van Meter. Attorneys for James F. Van Meter and Mrs. Robinette are Horace P. Whitworth and F. Brooke Whiting.

Two Persons Forfeit Bonds on Charges of Disorderly Conduct

They were arrested on Independence street yesterday morning at 2:30 o'clock by Lt. James E. Van and Officer E. R. Liley.

Arthur Hadley, this city, received a suspended sentence in police court Tuesday morning on a charge of drunkenness. Less than eight hours later he was arrested on a charge of loitering and is being held for a hearing. He was arrested by Sgt. John H. Newhouse and Frederick C. Neus on South Liberty street at 4:25 p. m.

A man booked as Michael Bean, city, is being held for investigation by city police. He was arrested Monday afternoon along the B. and O. right of way by Officer Frank A. Shober.

Warns against Sale Of Unspected Milk

Persons owning cows must meet certain sanitary requirements and obtain a permit from the Maryland State Health Department before offering milk for sale to their neighbors, the health department warned Tuesday.

The warning was issued following complaints made to the health department that persons owning one or two cows in the George's creek section were offering milk for sale from unspected and unsanitary places.

The health department urges persons not to purchase milk from this source as they are running the risk of contracting undulant fever and other milk borne diseases.

Maryland's milk law specifically states that such producers must have sanitary inspection permits before offering their milk for public consumption.

THE YEAR'S GREAT ACTION SPECTACLE STARTS

MORE SPECTACULAR THAN "ARABIAN NIGHTS"... MORE THRILLING THAN "ALI BABA"

Pot O'Luck May Be Good Bet in Kentucky Derby

By FRED HAYDEN
NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (P)—When the winter books start offering odds on the 1945 Kentucky Derby, you might do worse than risk a buck on Pot O'Luck.

Warren Wright's colt from Calumet Farm has no such glamor of record as Walter M. Jeffords' unbeaten Pavot, retired champ of the 1944 juveniles. The lightly-camouflaged bounding bay is a fast development, and never won a race until last Saturday when he made his sixth start a winning one in Belmont's Mile Champagne Stakes.

But, barring mishaps, there are reasons why he might be the darling of the Derby, come next spring. He's trained by Ben Jones, who has won three Derbies to steal Col. E. R. Belmont's thunder in recent years.

Pot O'Luck is a stretch-running colt cut out for a mile and a quarter. He hasn't been burned out by the rigors of a heavy juvenile campaign, but gradually found himself without being hurried or harried. Like his daddy, Chance Play, he isn't squeamish, and his one race on a muddy track was a coker. He has the action of a route runner.

A few days before Belmont's Futurity, Missouri magician Jones said he didn't plan to run anything in the juvenile classic. Asked about Pot O'Luck, large Ben opined the colt would do better when the distances were spread out. But Pot O'Luck ran in that one, finishing a respectable fifth to Pavot in the fifteen-horse field.

Came the longer Champagne, and Pot O'Luck really popped the cork. As in the Futurity, he had only a couple of horses headed in the run for positions. He was forced to take the overland, but came into his own with a stretch rush that presaged trouble for rival three-year-olds of 1945.

Said owner Wright: "the younger might turn out to be a good three-year-old."

In the meantime the bay colt may add to his reputation in the Pimlico Futurity and Walden Stakes at Pimlico, each a test at a mile and a sixteen.

Louis Completes Six-month Tour Of Army Camps

By FRITZ HOWELL
NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (P)—Sgt. Joe Louis returned home today from a six-month boxing exhibition tour of the European and African war theaters, and disclosed that he took a couple of punches at the Germans as well as at the chins of his sparring partners.

The heavyweight champion, weighing 215 pounds — or seven more than when he met Abe Simon in his last title defense in 1942 — said he visited the Ninety-second division on the Italian front and pulled the lanyard on several field guns firing on the Gothic line.

On his fourteen-month boxing tour, which included eight months of camp-visiting in the United States, Louis appeared before almost 2,000,000 fighting men, said Capt. Fred Maly, conductor of the tour and former sports editor of the San Antonio Express.

The champ said:

"I expect to defend my title, if the war ends soon enough." And what would be "soon enough?"

"Next week would be soon enough," Joe laughed. "No kidding, I think I'm good for a long time. The army is giving me a break with this tour, keeping me close to the game. And lots of fellows have been good heavyweights at 35 or 36."

Louis was 30 years old last May. He said he expected the armed services to develop plenty of good fighters who will be in ring action after the war.

Capt. Maly said one of the guns which Joe fired on the Italian front blew up the following day during the heavy shelling, killing a couple of crew members. The same day six German prisoners, brought through the lines, recognized Louis and expressed surprise that he was so close to the front.

Asked about his immediate plans, Joe answered:

"I'd like a little furlough now."

Maryland Will Play Michigan State

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 11 (P)—The annual Michigan State College homecoming day Nov. 11 will be highlighted by the appearance of the University of Maryland football team.

Glenn O. Stewart, alumni secretary, said today that the homecoming would be on a war-curtailed basis and minus the normal frills. Tribute will be paid to the 130 former students who have given their lives in the present war, and to the 5,500 former students and faculty members in the armed services.

St. Louis Teams Did Not Argue During Series

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (P)—Philadelphia will have to move over. St. Louis has qualified as a city of brotherly love.

When two baseball teams from the same town can play for the big apple in six well-contested games and leave the atmosphere as pure and unsullied by the fumes of sulphuric remarks and bitter invective as they found it, the millennium seems to have come.

Here were two teams that, by all that is natural, should be rivals to the point of hostility, as there is no rivalry greater than one within the family circle.

Conception All Wrong

The least you could expect would be for the managers to issue hourly pre-game bulletins informing the world they were out to dunk the opposition into the neutral waters of the Mississippi, and for the players to go about mumbling threats of mayhem.

And the umpires. Those peace-loving souls so often called heels might be expected to need earplugs, gas masks and vest-pocket gimmicks to withstand the verbal and physical abuse that would be heaped on them every time they called a man out who was out by less than six feet.

Well, this conception of what might happen turned out to be all wrong. The Cards and Browns turned out to be teams of pantywaists with the loudest individual squawk of the whole series coming from the rusty pipes of a vendor hawking peanuts on the upper deck.

The rival teams were bowing and scraping all over the place in an Alphonse and Gaston act right out of Emily Post, with the rival managers, such truculent rivals that they shared the same apartment during the season, meeting each other coming and going in swing-shift fashion, setting the example by trying to bow each other out of the joint headquarters, with Billy Southworth finally winning and withdrawing.

It is doubtful if there ever before was a series thus staged without a hit of a row between the rival teams or between players and umpires, and we have an idea that the astounded arbiters, after glancing around apprehensively the first few times they called close decisions, settled back to enjoy this new peace and quiet to the utmost.

Maybe Teams Deserve a Plaque

We've seen several World Series, but none without its verbal clawing to a greater or lesser degree, as such events usually find the players with their nerves exposed, and even docile Frankie Crosetti of the Yankees a couple of years ago grabbed and pushed his way into banishment for the first month of the following season.

But the latest series, which might have been expected to produce some vivid fireworks, didn't produce a tossed match. Which is all right, too, as the quality of a ball game isn't judged by the disputes, and because a player isn't yapping at every decision and taking round-house swings at opponents doesn't mean he isn't in there trying. Maybe the Browns and Cards should get a plaque or something.

Grandview Firm To Start Airport Work Next Week

Mirabelli Says Company Has Fulfilled Seven Airport Contracts

Work of preparing the site as a preliminary to the paving project in 1945 will get under way next week at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, according to James Mirabelli, of the Grandview Construction Company, of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., which was recently awarded the $467,949.50 contract by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Mirabelli, who came here Tuesday to supervise the site-clearing, excavation and drainage work, said that several hundred men will be employed on the project and if the labor is not available here a sufficient number of workers will be imported to finish the job.

120 Working Days Required

The work will be carried on through the winter months, as it is estimated it will require 120 working days to complete this phase of the construction program.

The M. De Matteo Construction Company, of Quincy, Mass., has been awarded the paving contract calling for an expenditure of $339,730. This project, however, will not get under way until May 1, 1945 and is to be finished within seventy-five days.

Mirabelli stated that some equipment has already arrived and the remainder is expected here next week.

Built Seven Airports

The Grandview Construction Company is a partnership of three brothers, namely, James, Anthony and Dominick Mirabelli, and specializes in airport construction work. The firm has fulfilled contracts for work on seven airports which are situated at Schenectady, N.Y., Atlantic City, N.J., Elmira, N.Y., Allentown, Pa., Bangor, Me., Manchester, N.H., and Woodbine, N.J. Th. latter is a navy airport while the other projects were sponsored by the War department or CAA.

Work at the local site will include an area of approximately 110,950 square yards. It is estimated that the contract will include the removal of one million cubic yards of earth.

JOE CHORPENNING SAVES MONKEY HE FOUND ON PELEU

(By Sergeant Walter Wood, of 424 Pershing Drive, Silver Spring, Md., a Marine Corps Combat Correspondent, formerly of the Washington Post.)

Peleliu, Palau Islands (Delayed)—A Marine veteran, now in his third Pacific campaign, has made a bathe bind by Japs who retreated from his assault unit's dogged advance through a jungle sector of this island.

Marine Corporal Joe A. Chorpennin, 23, of Cumberland, discovered the monkey entangled in the thick undergrowth by a leather belt which was attached to a collar around its neck.

"I found him while on reconnoissance patrol," Chorpennin said, "and I call him Saki."

The corporal's outfit no longer is sure to see him advancing cautiously along a jungle trail, holding in his rifle in the ready position and carrying the monkey on his shoulder.

Chorpennin, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Chorpennin, of Cumberland, fought in the earlier battles of Guadalcanal, Cape Gloucester and Tarawa, New Britain, and has been overseas 28 months.

Before enlisting he was a printer for the Times and Alleganian Com.-

MAILING RUSH— Some of the many Cumberlanders who are hurrying to send their Christmas gifts to servicemen overseas before the mailing period ends this Saturday are pictured standing in line at the local post office. Record-breaking amounts of Christmas packages were handled by postal clerks this week, with nearly 2,000 parcels mailed out on Tuesday alone. The largest amount of such packages handled in one day during last year's Christmas mailing period was sixty parcels.

The fifth monthly wastepaper collection for Cumberland and vicinity will be conducted October 24 to 27, it was announced yesterday by Emmett A. Dougherty, who is in charge of the fourth-grade canvass.

Dougherty emphasized that rain will not damage the paper.

Father Nopplinger Describes Africa Missionary Work

Holy Ghost Father Gives Illustrated Lecture to CSMC Conference

Concluding a two weeks' lecture tour in Catholic schools of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Rev. Joseph C. Nopplinger, C.S.C., of the Holy Ghost Fathers, Washington, D.C., yesterday delivered an illustrated talk on "The Mission, Native and Animal Life of Africa" to an audience of 740 members of Western Maryland Conference, Catholic Students Mission Crusade, in Carroll hall.

Father Nopplinger illustrated his talk with approximately 1,500 feet of moving pictures, which were taken in East Africa, where the lecturer spent eight years, 1933 to 1941, in missionary work.

During his stay in Africa, Father Nopplinger's missionary headquarters were at Tanga, five degrees south of the equator and 3,500 feet above sea level. His territory covered 4,500 square miles and he carried on his missionary work in forty different camps and plantations of the sisal industry. Sisal is a plant yielding a strong, durable white fiber and is used for hard fiber cordage, especially lariats, and to some extent for binder twine. The plant is also grown in Java, the Bahamas and Mexico. Between 1,000 and 2,000 pounds of sisal are produced annually.

The women of the church collected funds to have a well drilled for the church and new record books were purchased.

The report for the Rawlings church included the fact that ninety persons attended the young people summer outing; the choir was reorganized under the direction of Mrs. Lewis, Carl White; the WSCS is sending copies of Dr. E.
